Meanwhile, it is also a Chinese and even the world famous pandas and other rare endangered wild animal research institute, which includes research and breeding, education tourism, cultural construction.

◆ Dujiangyan(256BC Irrigation System)

Dujiangyan is located in the west of Dujiangyan City, Chengdu City, Sichuan Province, which is situated in the Minjiang River, the western part of Chengdu Plain. Dujiangyan is a large water conservancy project, built in the late years of Qin Dynasty (about 256 BC ~ 251 BC) by Sichuan Prefecture Li Bing and his son on the base excavation of Bieling. It is composed of Water Fish Mouth, Feishayan and Baopingkou. For more than two thousand years, it has played the role of flood prevention and irrigation so that it assists Chengdu Plain to be "the land of abundance", where can be controlled flood and irrigate a vast of fertile land by nature. Till now, it has irrigated more than 30 cities, with covering nearly 10 million acres. Dujiangyan is the oldest and survived water conservancy project, without dam water diversion features, and it is still used in nowadays in the world. This project is gathering the crystallization of diligence, courage and wisdom of the labor people in ancient China. The main attractions of Dujiangyan includes Dragon Taming Temple, Temple of Two Nobilities, Alan Rope Bridge, Guan Yu Lei, Lidui Park, Yulei Mountain Park, Yunv Peak, Divine Rock Temple, Monastery of Omnipresent Light, Emerald Lake, Dujiangyan water conservancy project etc.

Dujiangyan is one of the world cultural heritage (In 2000, it was included in the world heritage list by UNESCO.), World Natural Heritage (Sichuan giant panda habitat). It is also the major historical and cultural site protected at the national level, a national scenic area and national AAAAA level attractions.

◆ Chengde Temple of Marquis

Chengdu Temple of Marquis is located in the South Gate of Temple of Marquis Street, in Chengdu City from Sichuan Province. It is the only temple which king and minister worship together in China, composed of Temple of Marquis, Chinese Zhaolie Temple and Hui cemetery. Generally, Chengdu Temple of Marquis was built in 223 AD, but Temple of Marquis was built before Tang Dynasty nearby Zhaolie Temple which was used for worshipping Liu Bei at beginning. Then, due to the reconstruction for it in the early of Ming Dynasty, it combined temple of Marquis so that it formed to the integrated pattern of temple and cemetery, Excluded Hui cemetery, the main building was rebuilt in Qing Dynasty in 1672. In 1961, Chengdu Temple of Marquis was appointed as the first batch of major historical and cultural site protected at the national level by the State Council. In 1984, the museum was established and it was awarded the as the first batch of national standard museum in 2008, with the reputation of the 'holy land of Three Kingdoms' . Chengdu Temple of Marquis Museum is divided into three plates, namely historical sites of the Three Kingdoms, West District, Jinli folk zone, with covering the area of 150 thousand square meters. In 2006, Chengdu Temple of Marquis was rated as the national AAAA tourist attraction, and become the most influential Museum of the Three Kingdoms in the world

◆ Du Fu Thatched Cottage

Du Fu Thatched Cottage, also known as the Wanhua cottage, Gongbu cottage, Shaoling cottage, is located in the bank of Huanhua Brook, outside the West Gate in Chengdu City of Sichuan Province. It is a national first-class museum with an area of 24 hectares. In 759, as rebellion An and Shi, Du Fu exiled in Chengdu. With the help of a friend Yan Wu, they built a cottage in the bank of Huanhua brook, called "Chengdu cottage", and lived here for 4 years. During this period, Du Fu wrote a total of more than 240 pieces of poetry, being his creation peak. Du Fu Thatched Cottage has often gone through many wars. The survival buildings were built for Ming Hongzhi thirteen years (1500) and Qing Jiaqing sixteen years (1811). Du Fu memorial hall was founded in 1955. In March 4, 1961, the State Council listed Du Fu Thatched Cottage as a major historical and cultural site protected at the national level. It was renamed as the Du Fu Thatched Cottage Museum in Chengdu in 1985. It is the largest, most well preserved, well-known and the most characteristic of attractive for remembering Du Fu. It has more than one million visitors for each year. In December 4, 2013, British Prime Minister Cameron, landed at Chengdu Shuangliu International Airport, began a visit tour to Sichuan. He visited more than 1 hour in Du Fu Thatched Cottage, and wrote a inscription for Du Fu Thatched Cottage before leaving

◆ Jinli Street

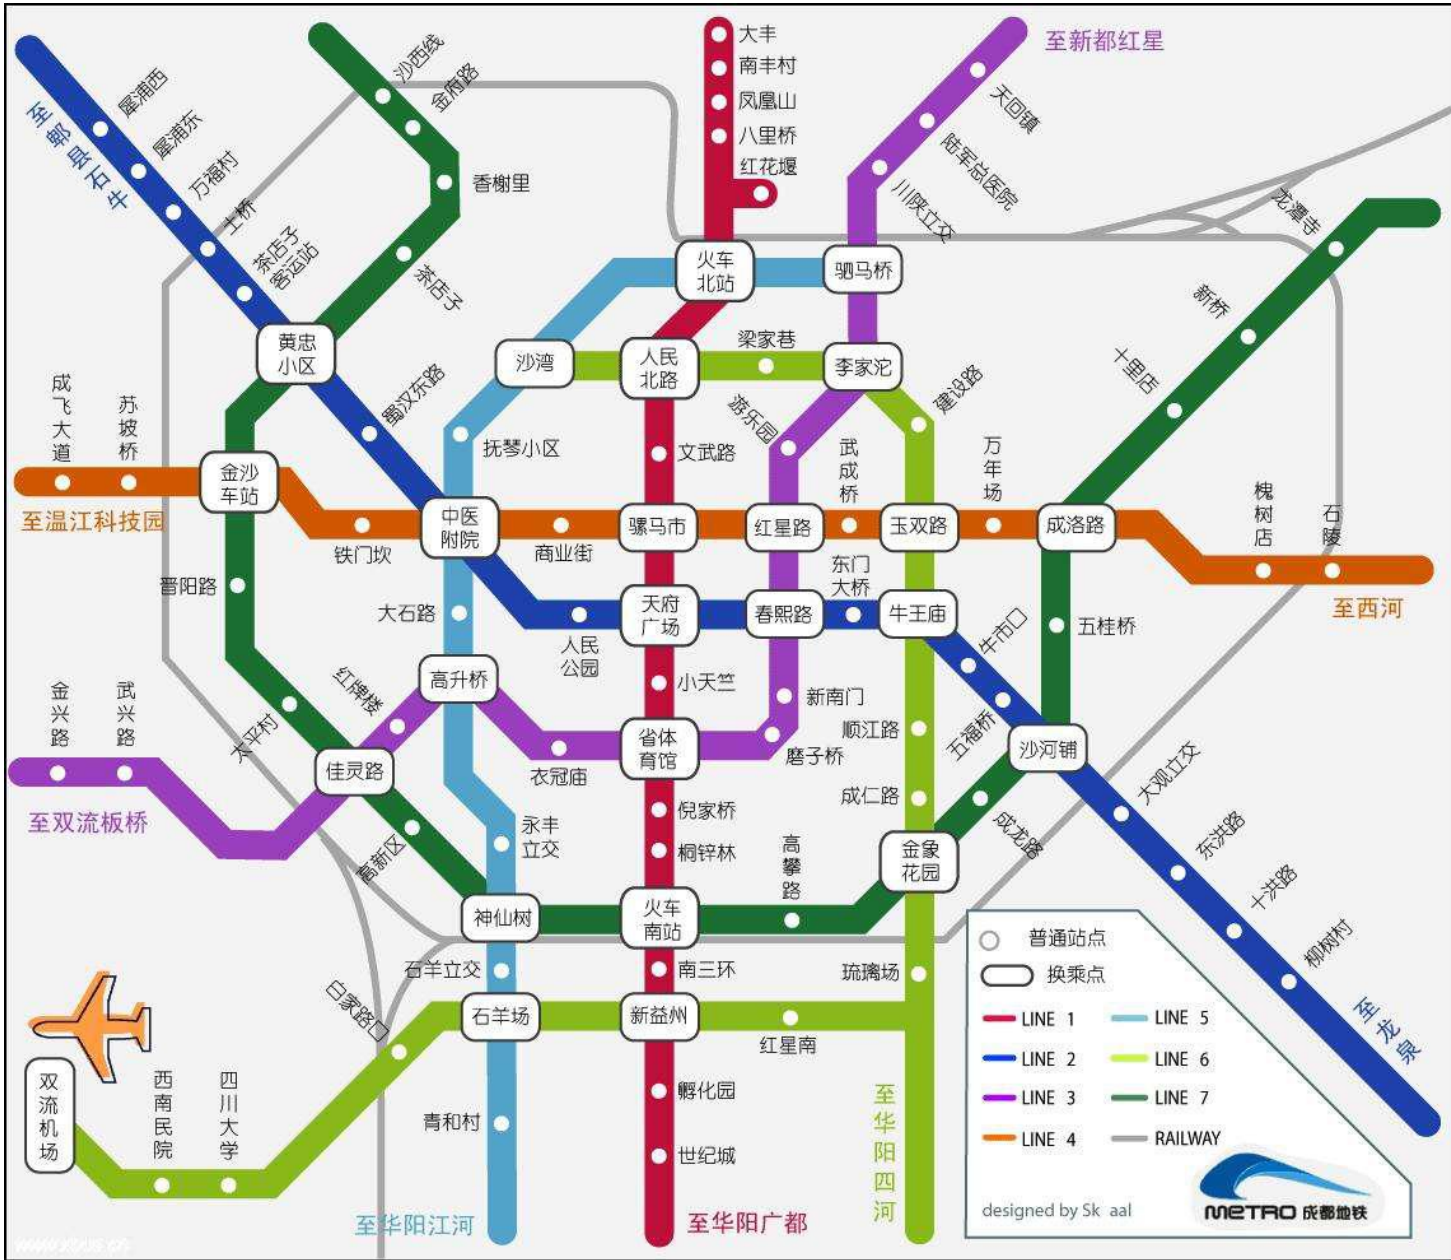

Jinli Street, also named as Jinli Ancient Street, is an ancient commercial street in Chengdu City of Sichuan Province in China, located in the middle of Temple of Marquis Street in Chengdu. The northern of Jinli Street is Jin River, the rainbow bridge located in its east side and next to east side of Chengdu Marquis Temple Museum. There is an old saying that Jinli Street is one of the oldest and most commercial streets in history, traced back to the Qin, Han Dynasties and the Three Kingdoms. Jinli Street covers an area of 30000 square meters, with occupying construction area of 14000 square meters, a total length of street in 550 meters. In the late Ming and early Qing Dynasties, Vernacular dwellings in Western Sichuan lived there. It combines tourism, shopping, leisure and entertainment together. Due to its diversity of entertainment industries, like bar, snack, traditional living place, special tourism arts and crafts exhibition, it is named as 'Riverside Scene at Qing Ming Festival of Chengdu'. Thus, it is an ideal place to experience the culture of the Three Kingdoms and the charm of Chengdu Folk Street.

◆ Kuan Alley and Zhai Alley

Kuan (wide) Alley and Zhai (narrow) Alley is a historical and cultural district of Chengdu, Sichuan, China. It consists of three East-West streets (wide alley, narrow alley and water well alley from north to south) and residential houses between streets. Kuan Alley and Zhai Alley in 1980s were listed in the Historical and Cultural City of Chengdu Protection Planning. In June 2008, Kuan Alley and Zhai Alley renovation project was completed for a period of three years. Renovated Kuan Alley and Zhai Alley consists of 45 courtyards of the end of the Qing Dynasty style, both art and culture of the western style garden, the new courtyard style boutique inn and other characteristics buildings. In 2011, Kuan Alley and Zhai Alley were named one of ten-new Chengdu attractions.

Practical Travel Information in Chengdu

Medical Care

The large hospitals in Chengdu include Sichuan Provincial People's Hospital, the third people's Hospital of Sichuan Province, the second people's Hospital of Chengdu, the Chinese people's Liberation Army (PLA) Hospital, the Huaxi Oral Hospital of Sichuan University and the Chengdu Institute of traditional Chinese medicine, among which the Huaxi Oral Hospital of Sichuan University is the first oral hospital in China.

There are many drugstores in the city. Medicines in the large chain drugstores are various and cheap. For example, if you want to go to Plateau Tibetan areas from Chengdu, you'd better buy Herba Rhodiolae to prevent altitude stress.

Tips

*The climate in Chengdu is humid, with less sunshine, and more cloudy and foggy. The annual average temperature is 16 degrees Celsius. In spring and autumn, the temperature in Chengdu is moderate and the climate is better. Although the temperature is not high in summer, it is rather sultry. The temperature in winter is above zero, and it seldom snows, but it is rather cold. The best travel time in Chengdu is Mar.-Jun. and Sep.-Nov.

*The tourism industry in Chengdu is very developed and the city security is good. However, many crowded places such as railway stations, bus stops and passenger stations one still need to pay more attention to prevent thieves.

*Chengdu is humid and often rains. It's best to take an umbrella with you when you travel.

*Take care of the safety of the journey. On the journey sometimes you may pass through some dangerous regional attractions, such as steep slopes, cliffs, and torrent deep holes. In these dangerous areas, you should try to go together as far as possible, and never take risks alone.

* When you come out from Shuangliu Airport, especially in the late evening, do not plan to call a taxi nearby, because drivers often ask for a higher price. It's best to go to a special taxi stand, the drivers will charge by the meter.

*Chengdu is the hometown of Sichuan cuisine. Sichuan cuisine is famous for its spicy dishes. If you are not used to spicy foods, please prepare domperidone and berberine to cope with the gastrointestinal problems. The most delicious food in Chengdu is not in a large restaurant, but in "fly restaurant", meaning you only need to follow the crowd and cluster like -flies.

*There are many historic sites in Chengdu and its surrounding areas. Tourists should consciously cherish the cultural relics and sites, and do not graffiti.

*Many crowded places such as railway stations, bus stops and bus stations one should be careful to protect their property so as to prevent theft. For the unavoidable "soliciting" phenomenon, if it is unnecessary, it is better to refuse directly.

Welcome to China and Welcome to Chengdu

Visa :

Foreign tourist who wants to visit China need a valid visa, which can be applied at Chinese consulate in his/her country.

Foreign Exchange :

The currency of China is called "RMB". Before travelling, you can exchange some at home. In China, the local currency can be exchanged in the bank and hotel. The exchange rate of the bank is usually a little lower than that of the hotel.

The popularity of English :

Most civil servants, customs officers, police, hotel staff and men on the street can't speak English or know half of them; if you speak more slowly, most young people can understand simple English.

Don't expect people in inns or shops to understand English. Only the staff at the hotel will understand your English.

Social Security

China is usually a safe country. But when you travel in famous scenic spots in Chengdu, please pay more attention to your wallet and bag.

Traffic:

The local buses in Chengdu are very cheap ($0.15 -1 US dollars). You can try it. Taxis are convenient at all times.

Hotel :

You can find many Chengdu hotels on the internet, and there are good choices from one star to the most luxurious six stars. Most of the rooms is safe, tidy and reasonable in price.

Food :

The local food in Chengdu is fantastic. If you have enough money and your stomach is strong, you can eat a lot. Chinese restaurants are everywhere and open late. Most restaurants have menus, including photos of all kinds of dishes, and you also can see what looks very delicious on the next table.

If your stomach is not strong enough, don' t eat at the stalls on the street nor drink directly from the tap.

Communication and public facilities:

In China, mobile phones are very common and in the most areas they have global roaming. There are a lot of Internet bars near the scenic spot. When you go online in the Internet bar, please show your passport strictly according to the regulations. You can check Hotmail, YAHOO or Gmail on the Internet bar, but the speed is slow.

In the public facilities in Chengdu, toilets are a very cruel place, although there is a certain improvement, but still need to pay attention. Try to solve your stomach and bladder problems in the hotel as much as possible. There is a chance in the restaurant and department store. The bathroom of the public toilet and the small store may be smelly.

Understanding China and understanding Chengdu:

We strongly recommend you to get an official English guide or to rent an official audio guidance machine at the scenic spot entrance. Usually they will be at a separate counter near the ticketing booth.

After a day, you can take a look at pedicure or massage in Chengdu. You can find such shops everywhere.

It is a good idea to be as friendly as possible in China, to show your love to the people there and your favorite guides, and to buy a small gift as a token of appreciation.
